

BATS IN CHURCHES

All Saints FOULDEN Norfolk

The Issue

The church has a large number of mainly Brown Long-eared bat droppings scattered throughout the church, as well as signs of Common or Soprano Pipistrelles. The church was hoping to apply for funding to create a community space in the church. They had also hoped to look at removing the overpaint from their rood screen to reveal the original paintings.

What We Did

We have been supporting the church's plans to become a community space and increase their number of local and committed volunteers.

We have given them personal cleaning advice at their community cleaning day, and purchased new display and notice boards for the churchyard.

They have had a static bat survey of the church and will be installing new bat boxes alongside swift boxes on the outside of the church.
